

Mark Feldman
Global Chairman

Mark C. Feldman is Global Chairman of Investment Banking and a member of the Executive Committee at J.P. Morgan, the Investment Bank of JPMorgan Chase & Co. Mr. Feldman ran J.P. Morgan's Specialty Finance and Asset Management businesses for many years, and is credited with founding a number of other activities within its Financial Institutions Group, including its Alternative Asset Management banking business and its investment company equity capital raising activities. In addition, he has financed and advised on many of the largest and most historic transactions in the United States over his 31 year career with J.P. Morgan – including the U.S. Government bailouts of AIG and Freddie Mac, the negotiations with the U.S. Treasury for the financial restructuring of GM and Chrysler, and the restructuring of GE Capital, including the GE $200 billion asset sale program and its $200 billion debt restructuring. Mr. Feldman has led every IPO in the Alternative Asset Management sector globally for the last decade, including the IPO's of TPG, EQT, The Carlyle Group, Ares, Apollo, Hamilton Lane, and Stepstone, among others. He has advised on numerous Alternative Asset Management M&A and stake sale transactions including the recent sale of Oak Hill to T. Rowe Price, the three way merger to create Blue Owl, and many others. Mr. Feldman also regularly advises JPMorgan Chase & Co. on its strategic transactions.

Mr. Feldman originally joined Chase in 1991 and has held various positions across the firm. Mr. Feldman was previously responsible for Financial Institutions and Real Estate Mergers and Acquisitions and has also been a senior member of the M&A technology and telecom team. He has also held positions in Emerging Markets Investment Banking based both in New York and Sao Paulo, Brazil. Mr. Feldman is a member of the firm's Balance Sheet Committee for Financial Institutions and of J.P. Morgan's Fairness Opinion Committee.

Mr. Feldman is a graduate of The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, from which he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics. He and his wife, Jennifer, reside in New York City and have two children, Jared and Sydney.
